(BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS-P.M.) ST. PETERSBURG. July 21.—Gen.
Von Schwanebach, Controller of the Empire and one of the ministry who remains in office, tonight gave the Associated Press the government's explanation of the motive necessitating the dissolution of Parliament. In the most emphatic manner he tried to impress upon the correspondent the idea that the dissolution did not mean a

Emperor had not abandoned his purpose to introduce a representative government into Russia.

"You can tell the American people," said Gen. Von Schwanebach, "that this step was forced upon us as the only way of extricating ourselves and the country from the horrible reign of blood and terrorism which prevails. The dissolution of the present Parliament does not mean the return to irresponsible absolutism. The past is dead forever.

"From His Majesty's own lips, I can asure you that he still believes in his rinciple of popular representation, and firmly intends to adhere to it, but seeme convinced that the Parliament, was elected under abnormal conditions and did not represent the true entiment of the country, and it was eccessory to make another appeal to he nation."

HISTORY OF THE UKASE.

"What is the history of the ukase?"
was asked of the controller,
"Ever since the assembling of Parllament," he replied, "the intransigent temper displayed convinced us (the ministry) that the principal object of those in control was to make it the center of revolutionary agitation, instead of settling down to constructive work, and therefore, that, sooner or later, its dispersal would be themselves into the minds of the people.

Gen. Von Schwanekach was not certain what other changes in the Cabinet were involved by the accession of M. Stolypin to the Premiership. All the ministers, he said, had placed their resignations at the disposal of M. Stolypin, as he was entitled to make what changes he deemed wise.

STOLYPIN NOT OLD STYLE

STOLYPIN NOT OLD STYLE. Gen. Schwanebach pointed out that M. Stolypin was not a bureaucrat of the old school, and never could be induced to slavishly attempt to execute

HIS PHILOSOPHY.

Occasionally Sage incurred criticism by giving public expression to his peculiar philosophy. Work and thrift were the sum and substance of life, from his point of view, and he lived as he preached. A year or two ago he set the press buzzing with his denunciation of the practice of giving vacations to employés. He could see no good in vacations; nobody needed or was benefited by cessation of his daily toil; it was throwing money away to pay people for time wasted in frivolity and laziness. He never had a vacation in his life, he said, and he expected to live and keep on working for a good many years.

An unlovely character was Russell Sage on the side discernible to the public. A hard, avaricious, unsympathetic amasser of useless counters in the Wall-street game. He wanted to live and pile up wealth until he reached the century mark. At the age of 30 he takes the only vacation from money-grubbing that he ever had, and it will be a long one.

Russell Sage was born in Oneida county, New York, August 4, 1816. He received a public school education, was engaged in business in Troy, held milnor political offices for a few years and was elected to Congress as a Whig in 1853 and served four years. Then he went to New York and became a dealer in the stock-gambling game, selling puts and calls in Wall street. He made money and invested it in railway stocks, and became closely associated with Jay Gould.

In late years he was a director of many large corporations, including the Western Union, Union Pacific. Manhattan Elevated and several banks.

GPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.

PHOENIX (Ariz.) July 21.—Yesterday, their pay two days overdue, 15th employés of the Eastern Sugar Company at Glendale quit work. They had no compainit against their pay read to be on time or there would be a stoppage of the wheels of industry. They have been convinced, however, that the check from the East will be in Phoenix on Sunday, at the latest, and are preparing to take hold, refrashed from rest, Monday moraing. The new sugar factory is nearly complete, all the engines and other machinery being in place. It is believed that a start will be made upon the making of sugar by August 1. Work on the gathering of the beet crop will begin Monday, most of the beets being near Tempe, east of Phoenix.

Though the truble at Glendale had no connection with labor unions, an attempt is being made to unionize abor in Phoenix in every branch of industry. L. R. Barrow, a printer, former member of the Territorial Legislature, has been commissioned to organize all local mechanics and laborers and proposed change and many process not already affiliated with especial unions.

At Globe the Carpenters' Union has inaugurated a novel strike. It has announced that one of its members shall work upon any job in which Architect W. R. Norton is interested. It happens that Norton, one of the best-known architects of the Territory, is in charge of the erection of the most important buildings now going up in Globe, including the Courthouse and postoffice building. The union leaders admit that their men are being paid uffon wages, have union hours and reasonable work but they refuse to work under Norton, who is known to be a stickler for accurate work.

It is understood that L. A. Amerault, who so mysteriously left Globe a couple of weeks ago for Cananea, was driven from the eamp by anonymous letters that told that the carpenters would have his life if he stayed. Amerault was building superintendent on the new hotel and was to have a similar place on the new Courthouse.

Jesus Ortega, a miner in the Humboldt mine at Morenci, was blown into a half dozen pleeces a few days ago by a premature blast he had just loaded.

Near Globe, last Tuesday, an unknown man was killed by a train, He had apparently gone to sleep on the rack. The only mark of identification was a key upon which was engraved "E. Hathaway."

Morley ever let him get away from the Los Angeles team. The only pitcher we have that made him back up is Nagle, but he makes the best of them do that.

Speaking of backing up, we did more of that than anything yesterday, for Hitt was put in to pitch by Wilson and that always means swinging their heads off for the locals, for he seems to know more about pitching than they do about how to swat. He had them standing on their heads yesterday and scored his second shut-out of the week. Last Tuesday the Looloos made four hits and no runs and yesterday five hits and no runs and yesterday five hits and no runs and these five scattered pokes tells why they couldn't get connection with central. Only two of them reached second base, and in each case it was due to a single and and error that followed immediately afterward. This kind of business don't get many runs, and the Looloos consequently didn't get any.

Aside from the eighth inning the Seals could do little with Bergman, but one of them reaching third base and that was in the second, when Hildebrand got there on a pass, a sacrifice and an out. The close score and the generally good play kept the big bunch of fans excited all the afternoon and all of them must have come to the conclusion that San Francisco has a bang-up ball team this year.

MISCHIEF WINS YACHT RACE.

Defeats Monsoon Easily Over Twelve-Mile Course.

Victory Largely Due to Very Good Handling.

Merlin Wins B Class Trophy from the Osborne.

BY STINSON JARVIS.

The two-day Venice yachting tourns sailed away full (?) of cups, satisfac-tion and glory. Hundreds of sirens clad in the transparencies of fashion sought to felay their departure, but the sailors of Los Angeles, knowing their weakness, stopped their cars like Ulysses and thus got away. Eheu fugaces!

On the second day everything was different from the first day. The winds, the times, the speeds, the seas, the women and the drinks were all different, but the winning of the Mischief Mass., could suggest anything which

New York did worse than before.

The morning opened in warm fog and calm, and the southwesterly breezes which came in from the sea had not power enough to blow the feathers off a moulting hen, "This," said every one, "is the Monsoon's day. This is the catspaw weather for which she has been waiting for many moons." And in good sooth it looked that way, and all hoped that the victorious Mischief would get the curprise of her life. But the fickle wind gods willed it otherwise.

Dana Burks, understudy Doge and ayor of Venice, was not on hand as troom mathematical perdition.

Frank Garbutt kindly placed nis fast launch, Canco, at the disposal of The Times correspondent, and Mr. Sills, Mr. Dodge, Mr. Farnum and a number of other local 'achtmen were thus afforded a close view of the whole contest. Frank Garbutt himself went on board the Monsoon, and his maritime friend from Gloucester, Mass., Matt Walsh, went with him. Matt was the man that twice sailed the Garbutt yacht Did 'o' victory, on those days when Terminal Island wore sackcloth and ashes, and it was hoped that this and ashes, and it was hoped that this and he sail was let go across had land Banks would assist the Monsoon's clouds to roll by. Carlisle Thorpe, formerly owner and skipper of the swift Katrina, was also on board the Monsoon—he having left his bank at Santa Paula for this race. To provide for this galaxy of new talent on the Monsoon, some of the less celebrated material in her crew got temporarily bounced, and the boat vent to her race freighted down to the Plimschi line with nautical genius.

The first thing this all-star crew did was to lower the mainsail and soak it, so as to sprink out some of its tendency to looseness. Walsh seemed to be scrubbing the sail with a wet cloth, but this was not to remove the files, but the flap in the after leach. And for a while, till the sail dried, this made the cauvas sit much better.

And for a while, till the sail dried, this made the cauvas sit much better.

The Regatia Committee chose a course of twelve miles to be sailed on an equilateral triangle marked out with floating flags two miles apart, and this had to be rounded twice. As the wind came in, this gave the yachts on the first round two long legs on the wind to the second mark, and a run home on the third. The plan had the advantage of giving all spectators a close view of the contest, because at the end of the first round the racers had to make a turn within pistol shot of the Venice breakwater.

The smaller racers of class B got their start at 1.15, and crossed in this order: Osborn, sailed by Mr. Ashbridge, CHICAGO, July 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Battling Nelson and Manager, Billy Nolan left for Ogden tonight. Nelson said he had no definite bout in view on the Coast, although one looked in the matter of $5000 which they owe me to coast, although one looked. "It looks now as though Herman would be the next man, if we can get a suitable purse. I will give a number of exhibition bouts at Ogden and other places, and will gradually drift toward. San Francisco. I am in splendid shape, and it would not take long to get into condition for a bout."

Manager Nolan said nothing had been heard from Joe Gans, and it should not take long to get into condition for a bout."

Manager Nolan said nothing had been heard from Joe Gans, and it is not likely that the dusky fighter will meet the Dane.

On the way to the second mark all the yachts seemed affected by a strong current which set the Mischief down so far, that she had a close squeak to make the turn. The Monsoon, which sailed a more weatherly course, got around without the same slow pinch and gained ground. So strong was the current that both the leaders in Class B had to tack before rounding.

The times at the second mark were mischief 12:07:30; Monsoon, 12:08:25, showing a difference of only 55 seconds seconds, which at this stage of the game was fatal.

But the hopeful Joseph Pugh set a large reaching jib for the second leg and the boat carried it well. Folgon took the hint and also sent up the same sail, so that Pugh's gain in a proper move was not prolonged, and the second mark was furned as follows: Mischief, 1:11:00; Monsoon, 1:16:00.

The smaller racers of class B got their start at 1.15, and crossed in this order: Osborn, sailed by Mr. Ashbridge, first: Muriel, second; Merlin, owned by Mr. Squires, third, and Katrina, sailed by Overton, fourth.

The Osborn got away in the light wind to a considerable lead, and the Merlin, being blanketed for a long time by the Muriel, was held in third place for the first mile.

The start of class A was damaged by some bad news which arrived yesterday morning. A telegram came to the owner of the Skidoo, C. H. Wedgewood, saying that his wife had died suddenly. It was a great shock to all, and, of course, the Skidoo remained in the harbor.

Horrifying Spectacle Closes Yesterday's Bullfight at Tia Juana.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SAN DIEGO, July 22.- [Exclusive Dispatch.] The bullfight at Tia Juana ended in a horrible fisses this afternoon. Felly Roberts had killed two bulls with not much more gore or disgusting detail than any butcher. An Indian matador then tried to kill the last bull and mauled and stabbed it into a hideous, bellowing mass of blood. Mortified at the jeers of the mob, the matador furiously abandoned all ethics of the game and struck the animal like a butcher through the brain. The bull revived while being dragged off the field for dead and could be seen after the matadors had gone, still breathing with long gasping sobs among the dead bulls. All three matadors escaped without a scratch. A pole vault of El Cuco was a feature of the show. Before the third bull was killed by Paquiro, Robert placed a banderilla of unique design in its shoulder, the banderilla opening up and allowing a white dove to escape. The dove alighted directly in front of the fated beast and then flew away. The next fight is scheduled for August 12. y night fight is scheduled for August 12.

Alfred J. Morganstern, a San Fransisco lawyer, who had had an almost startling triumph in the amalgamation of vaudeville houses in Southern California, next took over the Casino as his chief theater. Then the sigantic bubble of the outside circuit bursted. Morganstern took in Rube Welch, and the two managed the place together. After a series of sensational stage plays, and the facing of numerous reditors' allegations, both Mr. Welch and Mr. Morganstern faded suddenly from sight.

Edward F. Seamans, manager of the Olympic Opera Company, took hold of the theater for a second time last winter. With him was associated T. Jeff White, foster son of Mrs. Mary A. Hotchkiss, owner of the theater and the ground on which it stands.

Joseph Kashaba, a Persian physician, who is about to return to his own country as a missionary, delivered an address in the First Methodist Church tonight on "Persia." The speaker was introduced by Dr. A. W. Lamport, the pastor of the church.

At the age of 17 years I graduated from the leading college of Persia and for one year I taught school.

Wears Out the Nerves. Do you realize that pain is weakening, and exhausts your vitality? Don't you remember how completely worn out you felt after that last attack of headache, neuralgia, backache, periodical or other spell of suffering? Nearly every case of inflammation, apoplexy, paralysis, epilepsy and insanity is directly due to the weakening influence of pain upon the brain nerves? For this reason every one who suffers from pain of any kind should not fail to get relief as quickly as possible.

You can do this by taking Dre Miles' Anti-Pain Pills-others do.

"I have used Dy. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills for years, and can say they have never failed. I always keep them in the house, in fact I had rather be without sugar than the Pills. Previous to using them I had always suffered with sick headache, sometimes being in bed for three and four days. I had tried nearly everything I ever heard of; some would seem to help at first, but after a short time the effect would wear off. It is five years now since I began taking Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills, and the results are as good as at first."

RECLAIMING ARID LAND. Dry Farming the Solution of

Number of Pressing Problems?

Arable Land Profitable.

Contrary to commonly accepted ideas as the statement may be, it is, nevertheless, an amply, demonstrated fact that wherever in this great arid empife the annual rainfall averages as high as twelve inches as good crops can be raised without irrigation as high as twelve inches as good crops can be raised without irrigation as with it, declares a writer in the Century Magazine. This means that almost every acre of the great plains between the Missouri River and the Rocky Mountains, and most of the intermountain parks and plateaus between the Rockies and the Pacific, will produce as abundantly as will the rich prairie lands of Iowa, Missouri and Illinois, and much more abundantly than the richest of the lands in any of the older States along the Atlantic seaboard; that there is enough land now utilized, if at all, only for grazing to make possible the trebling and quadrupling of the present farming population of the United States; that, outside of comparatively small areas in Western Texas and in portions of Utah. Nevada, Arizona, Idaho, Wyoming, South Dakota and Southern California, there is little arable larid in the great West that may not be divided into forty-acre farms, each one of which will be capable of supporting an averaged-sized family.

Probably there is no exaggeration in the statement made by one writer that the region between the foothills of the Rocky Mountains, bounded on the south by the Rio Grande and on the north by the Canadian border, is capable of producing fruits, cereals, vegetables and live stock sufficient for the support of the entire present population of the globe. This vast area of fertile, and as yet almost untillized land is the foundation upon which the American people must build for the continuance of their prosperity for at least a century to come. Properly utilized, it may solve many perplexing problems. It will relieve the congestion of the cities provide an outlet for superabundant capital and afford opportunities for the
